Frilot wins in Ward Four, Colson, Harris in run-off

BY DENA BISNETTE
Waveland's Ward Four has a new alderman, but there will be a run-off election Tuesday in Ward Three.

Stella H. Frilot, a 44-year-old housewife with a background in medical and pharmacological work, won the Ward Four race with 96 votes, according to unofficial returns.

Her opponent, Robert "Bob" Mulally, a city equipment operator who had retired from the U.S. Navy after 21 years of service, received 79 votes.

"I'm so excited! I can't tell you how much I appreciated the people who got out and voted, and all the super people I met during the campaign," Frilot said after the election.

The new aldermen were scheduled to attend her first board meeting Wednesday, but will not be sworn in until after a surety bond has been obtained, City Clerk Arcelyn Dastugue said.

Frilot will succeed Herman Yarborough, who resigned recently due to health reasons.

The run-off election in Ward Three will be between Curtis P. Colson Jr. and Clarence R. Harris, who will compete for a seat vacated by the resignation of Louis Smolensky.

Colson led with 112 votes and Harris received 100.

Two other candidates, Francis "Billy" Adams and Jerry Peoples, were eliminated from the race.

Adams, a self-employed mechanic, got 36 votes. Peoples, a builder, trailed with nine votes.

"I'm pleased to have made it into the run-off," Colson said. I appreciate the support from my family and friends and all the people who came out, and I still maintain that I will be working with the interest of the people in mind."

"I'm glad to be in the run-off," Harris said. "I appreciate everyone who supported me in the primary."

The polls will be open for the run-off election from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue.

Colson, 36, is owner of CPC Design-Build and is a member of Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Waveland American Legion Post 77 and secretary of the Bay Area Youth Soccer League.

He is a U.S. Navy veteran of Vietnam and a graduate of Bay High, Pearl River Junior College and Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, La., where he obtained a bachelor's degree in architecture.

Harris, a native of Waveland and the only one of the candidates who has run for public office before, is an employee of Williams Wrecking Company at National Space Technology Laboratories.

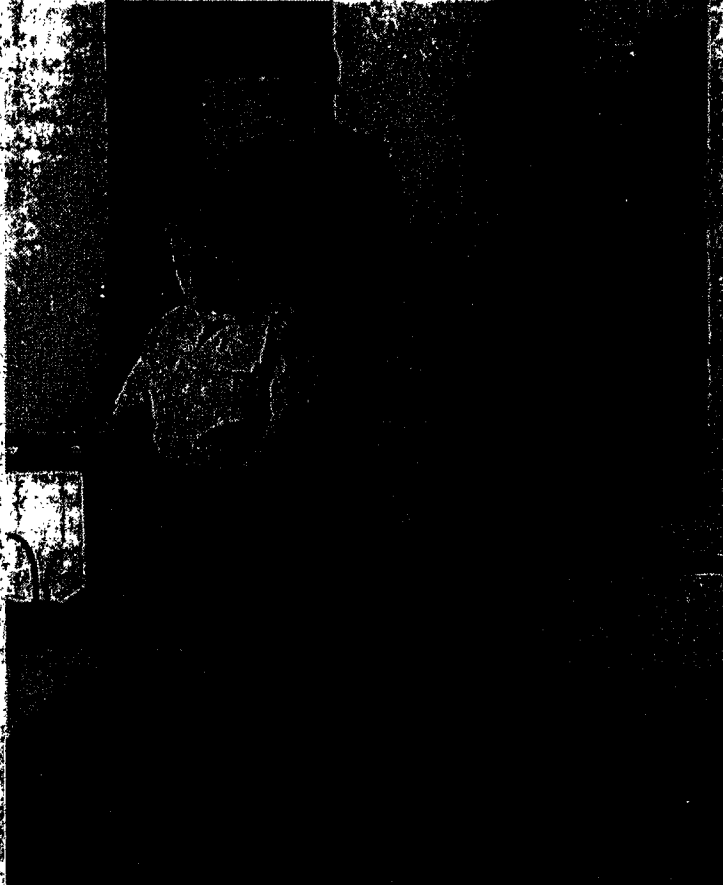

He is a member of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee and treasurer of the Hancock County branch of National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He has served on the citizens advisory committee for redistricting the city of Waveland and is director of Waveland's Youth Development Program.

He is a graduate of Valena C. Jones High School and attended Rock Island Technical School in Rock Island, Ill., and Pearl River Vocational-Technical School.

The votes were counted in about 20 minutes Tuesday by Dastugue and City Election Commissioners Beverly Zimmerman, Lynn McGehee and Charles Noel Phillips, with assistance from Hancock County Election Commissioner Charles Gottschalk and James Ladner and Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler.

Zimmerman said a small number of affidavit votes, about five, were received and will be checked to make the returns official, but the additional votes are not expected to alter the outcome of the election.

SLEAV OFFICERS MEMORIAL—Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Albert Biehl of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County Lawmen's Association president, paid tribute to law enforcement officers who have lost their lives in the line of duty. Others participating in the memorial service conducted at the Hancock County Courthouse Sunday morning include, from left, Biehl; Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Brandewicz; Hancock Sheriff's Deputy Pauline Rohr of Shoreline Park Association; Secretary-treasurer and Patrolman Danny Carter of Waveland Police Department; Association Vice President. Officers from several jurisdictions attended the ceremonies, the first of this type conducted here. Biehl said the memorial tribute, expected to become an annual affair, may be combined next year with ceremonies conducted annually by the Mississippi Highway Patrol in honor of the late William P. Kenny of Bay St. Louis, state trooper who died in the line of duty.

Taylor scholarship awarded

State Senator Gary Taylor of Bay St. Louis reported that the Taylor Scholarship, named for 1938 state Sen. Jerry Taylor of Bay Senior High, Rhet, father of Hancock North Central, Morgan Hill of Harrison Central, Phuong Thi Binh of St. Martin High and Shen Scarborough of Ocean Springs High.

All five students will be attending Mississippi junior colleges in the fall.

"When the legislative pay raise was first proposed, I said that I would vote against the measure. However, after I would give my salary increase away in scholarship. Although I am disappointed that we failed to defeat the measure, I am happy to see that this money will be used to help these fine young people get a start on their college education," the senator explained.

News Brief

SHORELINE STUDY—Representative of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Mobile District, will conduct a work session at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Hancock County Courthouse with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and members of the Shoreline Advisory Council.

The Corps is expected to prepare a report on the proposed project for Hancock County.

Supervisors go for 'risk-free' dollars

BY D. C. HARVILL
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors at their last meeting resolved to take advantage of low interest rates and a loophole in the tax laws to net the county $50,000.

The supervisors met with John Thorne, of Thorne, Alvis and Welsh an investment firm out of Jackson concerning issuance of a special obligation bond a percentage of which can be used for community improvement projects.

According to board attorney Gerald Gex, there is a loophole in the tax reform act of 1986 that allows the interest on urban renewal bonds of less than $5 million to be tax free, making them attractive to investors.

From a $5 million bond issuance one percent, or $50,000 would accrue to Hancock County.

The law requires that the money be used only on urban improvement projects as is seen fit by the Board of Supervisors.

Wayne, Greene and Jefferson Counties have already taken advantage of this situation, according to John Thorne, with Thorne, Alvis and Welsh, of Jackson, the firm that will issue the bond.

Thorne urged the supervisors to act as soon as possible to enact the bond issue since the prime interest rate has recently taken an upward turn, and issuance is not advantageous if the interest rates are too high. "We had to delay issuance of the bond for Wayne County because the interest rates went too high," Thorne said.

The bond's rate of interest remains the same as when it was issued for three years.

No tax increase will be required and there is no risk to the county, according to Gex.

I've read the reference act from top to bottom," Gex said, "and I don't see any problem."

The intended uses of the bond money must be stated when the county applies for the bond issuance.

The supervisors moved that the funds be earmarked for work on Beach Boulevard, beach replenishment, repair to county buildings, to enhance recreation, or toward the county's proposed multi-purpose building should the county not get the grant it hopes to get for its construction.

Issuance of the bond is pending approval by the Hancock County Planning Commission, and must be advertised for 15 days before authorization.

Public comments will be heard at the supervisors meeting at 9 a.m. on June 6.

In other business:—The accepted a bid of $2,012 on lumber for the Fenton Community Center, and accepted under advisement a bid of $168, by Golden Industries, for metal roofing.

The board rejected the only bid received on concrete, $1580, by a company identified only as Boggan.

—Bids for computer equipment to be used by law enforcement and the court system were turned over to Tax Assessor Edward Murtagh for examination and advisement.

—Herta Smith, representing the newly formed Hancock County Recreation Association, asked the boards blessing and any assistance they could lend to the programs the association has planned.

The board informed Smith that it seems the associations programs will compliment the recreation programs being implemented by the board.

—Sheriff Ronnie Peterson presented the board a $29,000 check earned for housing Cuban detainees in the county jail.

—Tax Assessor Edward Murtagh informed the board that preparation for the countywide 911 emergency dialing system is proceeding ahead of schedule.

The system will be tied into the land rolls so when there is a disaster it will be possible to tell who lived at the site and the kind of structure.

—The board approved the low bid of $825 for a low band radio for road maintenance crews.

—County engineer Larry Seal was authorized to prepare specifications for bids on work to be done on three culverts. Seal informed the board that the culvert on Lower Bay Road near the old Bayou Caddy Church may not withstand the runoff from a heavy rain. Hoping to get a more favorable bid, the board decided needed repairs should be made to two other culverts at the same time.

—David Taylor of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission informed the board that the county can expect to spend $20,000 or more on geological analysis for a new landfill site.

Taylor also said that a landfill is going to be a costly proposition in the future because four test wells are required at the site and they have to be monitored three times per year. Monitoring analysis cost for each well is $1,000 for a total of $12,000 a year.

The board is looking into alternative methods of garbage disposal.

EVERYTHING WOMEN ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT MALE SEXUALITY —

(BUT WERE AFRAID TO ASK)

Wednesday, June 8, 7:30 p.m.

Frequently, women ask the important questions about health matters when they notice changes in the sexual relationship and it is true that many husbands and lovers withdraw from their intimate relationships because of fears and misconceptions about sexual performance. At least 50% of couples have sexual concerns and we believe that women hold the key to sexual health in the modern living relationship. Recovery of a satisfying relationship begins when the woman asks the questions that, when answered, leads to a compassionate understanding of the problem. Help is available for the asking. In an educational program designed to help the process of sexual healing or relationship enhancement, the Sexual Medicine Institute of Southeast Louisiana will be asking and answering some of the major questions about male sexuality. Stephen Southern, Ed. D., Sex and Marital Therapy Consultant, will provide information about the physical and emotional changes that males experience. His discussion makes the complex responses of male sexuality easier for women to understand. Esteban O. Romano, M.D., and Mahmoud Dattary, M.D., Urologists will provide information about the anatomy and physiology of males and address questions on medical and surgical procedures for recovery of sexual functioning. PROUD ANGLER—Holly Hanson proudly displays her speckle trout she landed Saturday morning while fishing off the seawall on North Beach near the mouth of the Jordan River. The croaker on the string looks very small next to the large trout. The young angler said the trout almost pulled the rod and reel out of her hands during a lengthy battle. Although many vegetables were known to the ancient Greeks and Romans, it was considered for many years down through history that it was a sign of poverty to eat vegetables.

It was only when discriminating cooks began to take an interest in 'plant life and use' that tasty ways of using vegetables were devised. As travel to the New World began, the explorers returned home with new and strange foods discovered in their travels.

Whatever would we do without vegetables today? And aren't we fortunate to have such variety and freshness?

A tasty vegetable dish, dear to the palates of cooks in the countryside of France for a long time, and also to many of us in this country and elsewhere, in one variation or another, is: RATATOUILLE

(Ra—ta—too—ee)
(This is a melange of fresh tomatoes, eggplant, squash, and onions and garlic, cooked in olive oil, with mushrooms green peppers added, if desired.)

1/2 lb. onions, chopped or diced
1/2 lb. squash, same

1 small to medium eggplant, peeled, cut in cubes
2 or 3 tomatoes, cut into wedges
2 toes garlic, minced
1/4 cup olive oil (or other oil)
1 tsp. oregano
2 tsp. basil
Pepper, salt as wished
8 to 12 pitted ripe olives
Dash of Tabasco

In the heated olive oil, saute the onions and garlic, add the eggplant and squash and cook for a few minutes before adding the seasonings. Mix well together, add the tomatoes and olives, cover the pan and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes.

Serve hot with chicken or hamburger or other food of your choice; or chill for several hours in a covered bowl and serve as a salad or relish. I like to serve it, chilled, heaped upon small slices of toasted French bread or Melba, as an appetizer.

At times I add sliced or whole fresh mushrooms and chunks of bell (green) pepper to the mixture as it's cooking. There are many variations on the theme, all quite tasty. (Four to six servings.)

NSTL technology inducted

The U.S. Space Foundation has selected the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) Aquatic Plant Wastewater Treatment Program for induction into its Space Technology Hall of Fame.

The announcement was recently made during the Fourth National Space Symposium held at the Foundation's Colorado Springs, Colo., headquarters. Three other NASA centers were also inducted for projects which lead to "spinoff" or secondary use products or technology used in the private or public sectors.

These centers included Johnson Space Center in Texas, Goddard Space Flight Center in Maryland, and the Marshall Space Flight Center in Alabama.

The Mississippi center was recognized for its pioneering research in utilizing aquatic plants for wastewater treatment and water reuse. Dr. B.C. Wolverton, NSTL research scientist, is principal investigator for the research project.

Spinoff technology from this highly recognized NASA research project is already being used in California, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Virginia. The application of this technology is presently being evaluated in numerous other U.S. states and foreign countries.

One of the earliest and most prominent users of the aquatic plant technology is the City of San Diego, Calif., which has experienced severe potable water shortages in the past. Specially designed water hyacinth ponds comprise a major and integral part of a treatment system to reclaim potable water from domestic wastewater.

The NSTL project is part of the Technology Utilization (TUO)

Program which is designed to encourage transfer of technology from NASA to the private sector, and to encourage the private sector to develop technology which can be transferred to NASA.

The TUO Program was established as a result of a congressional mandate to NASA to stimulate the transfer of technology and create a return on the funds invested in advanced research through new products, processes and jobs.

Wendall Ingram dropped by the office on Tuesday with a very interesting copy of the New Orleans States on Tuesday.

The date of the newspaper was August 14, 1945 and it was the Crescent City Special edition for that day. Ingram said he found the old newspaper by the bridge on US-90 last year and took it home with him.

The headline which took up almost half of the front page in bold letters three inches high reads JAPS SURRENDER, SWISS REPORT.

When we start checking the ages of the population of our country, most of the folks around today were not even born when this historic headline was written in 1945.

We can well remember the joy of wives parents, brothers, sisters, grandparents family members and friends of Americans who were off to war and how happy they were when the Japanese surrendered.

An interesting editorial also appears in that issue of the New Orleans Item on the possibility of rationing being removed from several items.

There are not too many folks around who can remember the need of coupons in addition to money to make purchases of everyday staples such as sugar, meat, coffee, gas, tires, shoes in addition to other items.

Some of the younger folks may want to ask their grandparents about how it was during World War II.

Saturday's cleanup was a success with the amount of debris collected by each person participating in Hancock County.

The only problem being there were too few of volunteers, especially in Bay St. Louis and Waveland for the areas we would like to have covered.

I would like to extend a thanks to each and everyone who participated in the cleanup, for they did a wonderful job.

The few volunteers in Clermont Harbor, Pearlinton, Bay St. Louis and Waveland really worked very hard collecting a large number bags of trash.

The cooperation of Bill Johnson, Hancock County superintendent, his foremen and crews was really appreciated.

As always, Ray Kidd and several volunteers did a fine job with the hot dogs and cokes at the end of the cleanup.

Darlene Underwood and the Homemakers were a big help with registrations and the compiling of information on the amount of debris collected.

Ina Cramner, an expert on cleanup in Clermont Harbor, as always did a fine job organizing the youth of her community.

Rev. A.R. Farley did a fine job rounding up volunteers in Pearlinton and their efforts removed a dump truck of debris from the community.

The county provided a dump truck at Gulfview School in Lakeshore, but no resident of the area participated in the cleanup. Guess there is no litter in that community.

The Stash Your Trash coastal cleanup was sponsored on a tri-county basis by the Bureau of Marine Resources and in Hancock County by the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Board of Supervisors and Extension Service.

Many of those who participated last Saturday would like to see another cleanup day when there are not so many conflicting events taking place.

Plans are underway to probably have community cleanups some time in September, we will keep you informed of the dates.

Again, thanks to everyone for a job well done.

NOT A DUMP—Some person or persons do not know the difference between a drainage culvert and a dump as they have unloaded all types of debris into a drain near the mouth of the Jourdan River on Beach Boulevard North of Bay St. Louis. This area of Beach Boulevard has to be cleaned of illegally dumped items by the county several times a year. Talk about water pollution, this has to be it, and guess what, it dumps right into the Bay of St. Louis. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us

Stiffer leash law penalties needed now

Early Tuesday morning my husband and I were awakened by the sound of dogs growling.

As we rushed to the window we were shocked by what we saw. Not one, but three large Weimaraner dogs pulling our nine pound dog from her house by the neck, and viciously trying to tear her apart.

Had we not intervened, our dog would probably be dead now.

Our dog was asleep in her dog house, on her chain, on a runner.

I personally don't believe that a $25 fine for allowing an obviously vicious animal to roam free is enough of a penalty.

Suppose one of my two young sons had been out there feeding their pet? Would they have been victims?

I live not far from North Bay Elementary School. Little children pass the front of my home every morning and every afternoon, they also are at risk.

I can tell you from experience that it is not a pretty sight watching your dog being attacked, knowing that if you try to help, you too may be injured.

It will be a few days before we know if our pet will be alright. My question is this, "Who will be the next victim?"

I hope that this letter will help put a stop to the "risks" at hand.

Summer is nearly here and our children will be out of school soon, riding bikes, walking and out playing with their friends. Will they be safe?

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

Excellence in education

During the month of May, I participated in commencement exercises at the University of Southern Mississippi and Delta State University. And I was impressed with the quality of programs and the number of students graduating. We have truly made broad strides in higher education.

However, excellence in education must include a number of initiatives other than higher education and the federal government has a role to play in many of these.

Vocational education is a program I have supported, but I think we can push even harder in this area. We must continue to teach the basics, but we have an obligation to prepare our students for the real world. When they step out of the classroom, they must be prepared to step into a private sector job. Vocational education provides many students with that needed training.

Aid for education of the handicapped is important, too. Handicapped people can be educated and we can provide them with the skills they need to live happy and productive lives.

And we haven't forgotten the disadvantaged students. The House of Representatives has passed House Resolution 5, the School Improvement Act. I voted for this measure because it will provide much needed assistance in many key areas.

For example, we have set aside money for gifted and talented children. They cannot and should not be ignored. Quite often these students will enter math and science programs and the country needs them. Magnet schools will also help in this effort.

Excellence in education will not come easily or immediately, but the effort is being made and hopefully, it will continue to produce results.

News from the Capitol City

By ELLEN ANN FENTRESS
MISSISSIPPI REPORTING SERVICE

Before the 1988 session of the Mississippi Legislature convened, signs were that the four-month-long session could go down as one of the most remarkable, change-packed sessions in state history.

From the "winds of change" promises made on the 1987 election trail by new Gov. Ray Mabus and by new legislators, politicians appeared ready to take seriously ideas like replacing the state constitution and ridding county government of the beat system, legislation that had been regarded as ground too sacred to tread in years gone by.

In retrospect, the 1988 session brought less of a revolution to state government than some expected. While legislators surprised skeptics by boosting teacher pay by $117 million in two years, jumping past the teacher pay offered in about half of the other Southern states, the push to replace the 1890 constitution and reform county government collapsed.

Those two session casualties were at the top of Mabus' legislative agenda along with the teacher pay raise, and speculation was circulating around the Capitol before the session adjourned on when Mabus would call legislators back to town for a county-unit government special session.

As for other legislation that commanded attention during the 1988, some emerged as law, while other bills fell by the wayside somewhere along the legislative trail.

Major proposals that won passage included:

—$30 million in state employee pay raises, amounting to average 3.8 percent raises for 22,000 state employees.

—Legalizing liquor advertising for Mississippi publishers and broadcasters and on billboards —Abolishing the state Board of Corrections, to make the state corrections commissioner directly answerable to the governor.

Proposals that failed in 1988 included:

—A Nov. 8 statewide referendum on whether to call a 1989 constitutional convention to rewrite the state constitution. The proposal passed both the House and Senate, but legislators failed to agree on a compromise draft of a constitution bill.

—Mandating county unit government across the state, which would call for handling most county government functions centrally instead of allowing each supervisor to run his section of the county on an independent basis. Both chambers passed a version of county unit government, but House-Senate negotiators never arrived at a compromise between the versions of the bills passed by the House and by the Senate.

—Almost all of a package of bills to reform civil liability law in the state, including setting a limit on the amount of punitive damages that a party in a lawsuit could be ordered to pay. —Legalizing gambling cruises in the Mississippi Sound, which would have cleared the choppy legal waters for the Europa Star cruise ship, which is operating while a court dispute is pending over whether part of its route is under state or federal jurisdiction.

As the session ended on May 7, Mabus' success in selling his first legislative package was mixed. While he won his big-money request on the list with his teacher pay win, the defeat of county unit government and constitution reform in the regular session were major setbacks.

In its first year, the teacher pay package will mean average $2,114 salary increases in the 1989-90 school year, with the raise starting in December. The first full year of the raise will come the following year, when teachers will receive the full amount of the increase, which will be an average $3,700.

Teachers will receive raises ranging from $6,500 to $3,775, depending on their level of education.

The first year cost of the teacher pay raise will be $65.5 million, which will rise to $117.5 million the following year.

Mabus campaigned for governor on the teacher pay raise plan, claiming the raises could be financed without raising taxes. Legislators, many skeptical of the no-tax part of the promise, did manage to finance state government along with the raises through using one-time money sources and other reshuffling.

However, many legislators believe that the plan will make a tax increase necessary next year predicting legislators will be staring at a $130 million deficit 12 months from now.

SENATE VOTE

HB 601. Amendment 6 to Committee Amendment 1. After accepting Committee Amendment 1 to HB 601 for a gradual phase in of the $3,700 average pay raise for teachers, the Senate rejected 17-29 implementing the raise in September, 1988 instead of January, 1989. Taylor, Yes; Tate, Yes.

HB 1034. After first rejecting the bill to legalize liquor advertising through Mississippi newspapers, television stations and other media, the Senate reversed that decision by a 27-23 vote. Taylor, Yes; Tate, No.

SB 2431. The Senate passed 40-2 a mandatory county unit bill, which requires more central administration of county business than the current beat system. Some unit advocates felt that this bill was too weak. Taylor, Not voting; Tate, Yes.

HB 317. House-Senate Conference Report. The Senate voted 40-11 to accept the House-Senate compromise version of the constitutional referendum bill before the House's rejection. Taylor, Yes; Tate, No.

HB 317. Amendment 1. Part 2 to Committee Amendment 1. The Senate voted 34-15 to rid the constitution bill of any restrictions on the proposed constitutional convention. Areas losing their off-limits status with the voter were right-to-work laws, public employee retirement funds and a balanced budget requirement. Taylor, No; Tate, Yes.

HOUSE VOTE

HB 601. The House passed 93-15 a trimmed version of Gov. Mabus' teacher pay raise plan, which would authorize about a $3,000 raise for next year and complete the $3,700 average raise package sought by Mabus the following year. Compretta, Yes.

HB 317. House-Senate Conference Report. The House voted 74-48 to reject the same report the Senate accepted by a wide margin. Compretta, no.

HB 317. Representatives gave the constitutional referendum bill 83-37 approval on final passage. This was the original bill. Compretta, yes.

SB 2431. Substitute 1. Amendment 1. The House voted 68-54 to require a county-wide referendum on the Nov. 8 ballot before instituting county unit government in each of the 82 counties. Compretta, yes.

HB 1034. The House passed the same bill as the Senate with a 64-52 vote. Compretta, yes.

NO ACTIVITY—Hancock County provided a dump truck parked at Gulfview School in Lakeshore for volunteers to leave debris collected during a community cleanup last Saturday. Bill Johnson, county superintendent said the truck was empty after the cleanup. A truck placed at the Community Center in Pearlinton received a full load of litter collected by civic-minded volunteers. Some three loads of debris were also collected by a group of volunteers in Clermont Harbor during the cleanup. We thought some folks still lived in the Lakeshore Community.

Bill to allow municipal donations to 'moving wall'

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Mississippi legislature has passed a bill authorizing municipalities to donate funds to the "Moving Wall," a memorial to Vietnam veterans.

According to Henry Cook, who is Hancock County's chairman in a drive to raise funds needed to bring the memorial to the Gulf Coast, Senate Bill No. 3150 is expected to be signed by Governor Ray Mabus soon.

He said the bill is of the type that can become law without the governor's signature after a specific time period if, for some reason, Mabus does not sign it.

The moving wall, a portable, half-size replica of the actual Vietnam veteran's memorial in Washington, D.C., has been brought to the coast once already and is scheduled to return June 4 through June 10.

Cook said the moving wall exhibit will be opened to the public at 1 p.m. June 4 in Point Cadet Plaza in Biloxi.

The exhibition will close with a 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony. Cook said Tuesday that about $2,000 is needed to defray the costs of bringing the wall to Biloxi.

He explained that the legislation was needed because some of boards of the municipalities and counties asked for donations for the wall said they could not provide funds due to lack of specific authorization.

State Senators Gene Taylor of Hancock County and Margaret "Wootsie" Tate of Pearl River County, who represent part of Hancock County, were among those who authored the bill.

Senate Bill 3150 states, "The board of supervisors of any county and the governing authorities of any municipality are hereby authorized and empowered, in their discretion, to expend money out of any available funds of the county or municipality, as appropriate, to defray the expense of bringing the Moving Wall Vietnam Veterans Memorial to the State of Mississippi in June 1988."

The bill becomes effective immediately upon passage.

Anyone who wishes to make a donation may contact Cook at 467-2908 or may mail donations to him at P.O. Box 1100, Bay St. Louis, Miss., 39520.

State unemployment drops

JACKSON—The April, job-less rate for Mississippi fell to 7.3 percent according to Linda Ross Aldy, executive Director, Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

This rate was one and four tenths percentage points below one month ago, when the rate stood at 8.7 percent. This was 3.0 percentage points below the 10.3 percent reported April 1987. These improvements were caused by seasonal rises in nonagricultural wage and salary employment within the state.

Place of residence employment for April stood at 1,064,900 in a labor force of 1,448,000. There were 7,300 more people employed in April than last month and 31,300 more than April 1987. This represents the largest number of people ever employed in Mississippi.

Manufacturing establishments provided 233,500 jobs, up 200 from the 233,300 reported in March. Nonmanufacturing businesses provided 652,200 jobs in April. The yearly increase of 8,700 in manufacturing from April 1987 continues to point out the dramatic improvement in the goods producing industries. Nonmanufacturing provided 5,000 more jobs this month than last month and 18,100 more than last April. This monthly employment of 652,200 represents the largest number of jobs ever supported by the nonmanufacturing industries of Mississippi. Most of the economy continued to show steady improvement with most dramatic being the marked improvement in manufacturing over the last nine months. This is the largest number of establishment based jobs ever reported in Mississippi.

There were 82,542 claims filed in April 1988 as compared to 111,649 during March and 120,742 one year ago. There were 10,133 job openings received in April compared to 10,505 last month and 8,641 one year ago. Of those received 8,974, 8,529 and 7,049 were filled by local Employment Service Offices.

Bay-Waveland school board discontinues St. Rose lease

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District will not lease St. Rose de Lima School as a fifth grade center again this year.

According to Superintendent of Education Roger Oga, the school board recently decided not to renew the lease because school district-owned space will be available by the time the next term begins in August.

St. Rose, part of which houses the Bay-Waveland Headstart Center, was originally leased for the 1986-87 term when kindergarten was implemented under the Mississippi Education Reform Act.

Addition of the kindergarten students would have alleviated existing overcrowding problems at North Bay and Waveland elementary schools. The fifth graders remained assigned to those district-owned facilities.

Oga said the fifth graders can be reassigned to Waveland district elementary schools. The school board also decided not to lease St. Rose for the 1987-88 term. The board will consider leasing St. Rose for the 1988-89 term.

USDA commodity distribution slated

The Hancock County Welfare Department will distribute USDA commodities—cheese, butter, flour and rice on Thursday, May 26 at the American Legion Hall on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Distribution hours will be from 9:30 a.m. until all of the commodities are gone, but no later than 2 p.m. Eligible recipients are those that receive food stamps or low income households who have applied for commodities at the Welfare Department and have been determined eligible.

Participants are reminded that they must bring their signed voucher with them in order to receive commodities. If a participant wishes to have someone else pick up their commodities they must sign the voucher on the front and on the back and the person picking up the commodities must sign it on the back and bring it to the distribution site.

Participants are reminded that they can only pick up commodities for two households at a time and that they will have to carry the commodities they pick up.

Non-food stamp recipients may apply for commodities at the Welfare Department Monday, May 23 through Thursday May 26 (the day of distribution). Applications will not be taken at the distribution site.

The Food Distribution Program is available to all eligible recipients regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, age, sex or handicap.

Neighborhood Public Hearing Notice

The County of Hancock, Mississippi is considering applying to the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, Department of Community Development, for a small cities community development block grant of up to $750,000. These funds must be used for one of the following purposes:

1. To benefit low and moderate income persons; or
2. To aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or
3. To meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

The activities for which these funds may be used are in the areas of housing, public facilities and economic development. A neighborhood public meeting will be held at the fairgrounds building, at the county fairgrounds facility located on Longfellow Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi on May 27, 1988 at 1:00 o'clock p.m. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the specific project the County of Hancock will seek funding assistance for from the Mississippi Department of Community Development.

Supervisors hear comments on proposed building

BY D. C. HARVILL
At a preliminary public hearing concerning a proposed multi-purpose building, the Board of Supervisors heard comments by representatives of various county agencies vying for inclusion in the proposal. The county plans to construct the building if it can acquire a Community Development Block Grant for that purpose.

The state has $26 million in CDMG funds to be allocated to community projects that will benefit those in the low to moderate income bracket.

Leo Lackie representing the Health Department requested that his agency should be included because the services they provide require that they be located near the hospital.

County Forester Mark Jamison said that his should be agency included because it serves all the people of the county and the building it is currently housed in, behind the old hospital, is slated to be sold. Jamison added that his agency would like two offices but could get by with one.

A representative of the Welfare Department stated that his agency has a staff of 25 and serves 1400 people a month. He added that everyone knows their current building is "falling down around their ears."

Social Services worker Celeste Poole asked that her agency be given space because the abused children they deal with presently have to be transported between locations. She added that abused children shouldn't have to go through that additional trauma.

Mississippi Employment Agency's representative,

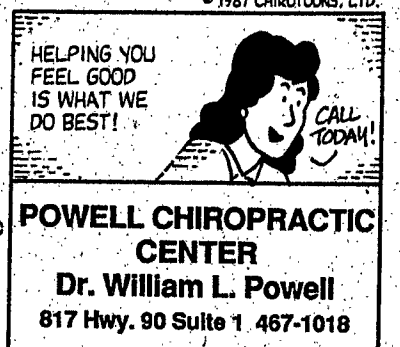

Ronald Marrion, said his agency serves 6300 people and through unemployment compensation generates $800,000 for the community. They also provide help to numerous youth through summer employment programs, according to Marrion.

A neighborhood public hearing will be held at the Hancock County Fairgrounds on Longfellow Dr. at 1 p.m. on Friday 27.

At that time the supervisors will have a draft of the proposal completed and will hear comments from people who live near the proposed building site.

State park management Rayburn family business

When the Rayburn family gets together the discussion eventually turns to their business—management of Mississippi state parks.

Gene, father of the Rayburn family, is park manager at John W. Kyle near Sardis; daughter Pam is assistant manager at Roosevelt near Morton; and son Stuart is park ranger at Buccaneer in Waveland on the Gulf Coast.

Gene Rayburn has been manager at John W. Kyle since 1973 in a Mississippi state park.

During the 1970s, Gene and his first wife, Georgia, who was park hostess until her death in 1981, built their home and family life around the park.

As a manager he has seen the state park system upgraded in many areas over the years, including the improvement of park facilities, upgrading equipment, implementation of a central warehouse and purchasing system, improvement of the state parks image, and state park and a desire to emulate her father were important factors in selecting a career in park management.

She continued working at John Kyle during the summer until she completed her degree in Parks and Recreation at Ole Miss in December, 1981.

In the span of her career she has advanced from a park attendant at Joyn Kyle, to a park clerk at Paul B. Johnson near Hattiesburg, to park hostess at John Kyle, to assistant park manager III, and then to her present position as assistant park manager IV at Roosevelt.

Pam enjoys the challenges of working with the public and prides herself on seeing that park guests have a good time.

Like his older sister, Stuart started working part time for state parks at an early age, first as a pool lifeguard and then working up to pool manager.

Like his father, early in life his primary goal was to play professional football. As he worked toward a business management degree, he was quarterback at Northwest Mississippi Junior College and then, for two years, at Kent State.

Realizing that he was not included in the one percent of college football players selected for the NFL, he once again, like his father, chose the next best thing, working in Mississippi state parks.

Stuart's career with state parks has spanned 11 years as he advanced from a part time position at John W. Kyle, to full time park ranger II at Golden Memorial near Walnut Grove and Leroy Percy near Hollandale, to his current position as park ranger IV at Buccaneer.

Stuart can't imagine himself at a desk job eight hours a day. Although he considers his business management background an asset in his work, he prefers being outdoors.

On an average day at John Kyle you can find Gene tending to park business and his wife Betty, also a park employee, planning and preparing meals for groups.

Pam is busy with administrative duties at Roosevelt, and Stuart is gearing his work around Buccaneer's wave pool visitors.

But overall as Mississippi state park professionals the Rayburn family's most important work is to promote the state's image.

They agree that they still have some work to do.

However, every time an out-of-state visitor brags about Mis-issippi's state parks, they know that they are narrowing the gap.

Not a bad family business to be in.

Softball tourney scheduled

Women hit own Green Dot 11 inch.

when he returned to the state from Florida to work in an area that he considers the state's greatest asset—Mississippi State parks.

In his youth Gene didn't plan on being a park manager. He wanted to play professional football, but a high school football injury prevented him from pursuing his dream.

Therefore, he chose what he considered the next best thing: using his bachelor of science degree in parks and recreation from the University of Southern Mississippi to pursue a career stability in the state level administration.

There were eight directors during his first five years in the park system.

Gene encouraged his children growing up at John Kyle to select a career they would enjoy. To Pam and Stuart enjoyment translated into employment in a state park.

Pam Rayburn also started her state parks career in 1973 as a summer park attendant at John Kyle.

Pam believes that living on a Reception for seniors held at courthouse

The Hancock County School District held the 5th annual seniors reception on May 13, at the county courthouse.

Following their awards ceremony, seniors from Hancock North Central High School were introduced county officials in the Board of Supervisors' room in the courthouse.

Each official addressed the students, informing them of the responsibilities and duties their respective offices.

Those addressing the students included Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler, Supervisors Ronald Cuevas and Michael Ladner, Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, Tax Assessor Edward Murtagh, Justice Court Judge Lee Klein, State Representative Curtis Holsten, State Senator Gene Taylor and school board member Carol Bustetter.

The seniors and officials were then treated to a luncheon prepared by the school districts food service and hosted by Rhea Seafidi, Myra Peterson and Cynthia Ladner.

Following the luncheon some 50 seniors registered to vote.

Sponsors of the senior class include Nadine Patton, Nancy Smith, Wilda McNatt, Mike Hailey and Blaize Anglada, all employed by the high school.

ETV Briefs

WONDERWORKS

When European settlers arrived in Canada, many took Indian wives. These unions created a race, the Metis, who have been the victims of prejudice.

"Places Not Our Own" at 7 p.m., Saturday, May 21, on Mississippi ETV's "Wonderworks" tells the story of a Metis family torn apart by the Depression.

The mother, Rose, is abandoned by her husband when he leaves to find work. She insists on remaining in a run-down shack so that her three children can be educated at a local Canadian school. Her dreams and hopes for the future, however, are shattered by prejudice.

IT'S BETTER TO HAVE LOVED A SHORT GUY THAN NEVER TO HAVE LOVED A TALL

"Mississippi Roads" explores art, history and bluegrass music

"Mississippi Roads" features a Delta pond baptism, a visit to Vicksburg's Old Courthouse Museum and Corinth's Smokehouse Band in a rebroadcast of the season premiere Tuesday, May 24, at 7:30 p.m. on Mississippi ETV.

New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church in Gunnison is the scene of an annual revival service to call forth candidates for baptism and membership into the church. The Reverend Tom Bronner has been the pastor of the New Bethel since 1935 and has always held the baptizings at the same pond. The "Roads" crew became "flies on the wall" for the revival services, then returned a month later to take their cameras into the water for the baptisms. They also visit artist Emma Knowlton Lytle, who paints the baptisms, and whose family donated the land for New Bethel over 50 years ago.

THE GULF COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, MAY 24, 1990

Next, "Roads" travels to Vicksburg and the Old Courthouse Museum. Museum Director Gordon Cotton tells about the building of the historic old courthouse and about several of the important events that took place there. Viewers take a tour of the museum and hear some interesting stories from the pages of Warren County's history, including one story about a famous dig-site. The final segment profiles the Smokehouse Band of Corinth, featuring band members Eddie Welch, Norl Byrd, Bob Harmon, Victor McIntire and the late Victor Dixon. The band performs the traditional three-part "Moonshiner" and explains why their brand of bluegrass is unique.

Two newspapers that began their careers as party newspapers in New York: "The World" and "The Sun."

Coming dates to be remembered for activities of interest for St. Ann-St. John Parish and friends include:

Saturday, May 21 immediately following St. Ann's 5 p.m. vigil mass there will be a "Fun Night of Games" in the parish hall to benefit the parish.

This special activity was not scheduled for last week as mistakenly reported last week.

There will be the usual hamburgers, hot dogs, chips, dips, potatoe salad, deserts and drinks available.

neighbors, while supporting your parish, don't miss "Parish Fun Night" this Saturday, May 21!

Wednesday May 25 another date to remember.

St. Ann-St. John Altar Society members will meet 11 a.m. in the parish hall for the ladies monthly meeting of the group. All ladies of the parish and friends are invited to join. Dues—$2 yearly.

Immediately following in the parish hall at noon will be the Altar Society's monthly luncheon, followed by a most pleasant afternoon of games.

Dot Neubig, this month's chairlady, has reported the luncheon fare this month will be a "surprise." Donation $2.50. Dessert and drinks available. Everyone is invited.

Week-end of June 11 and 12. Mark your calendar now! Don't forget the big softball tournament in Ansley Field to benefit St. Ann-St. John Parish. For information call Pat Corbell 467-5294.

SPECIAL EVENT

The Hancock Bank, RSVP, and the Center are cooperating to have a special inter-generational Ice Cream Social for you and your grandchildren on June 3 at 11:30 a.m. at the Center.

Hancock Bank has an exceptionally good film I call 'Memories' about the early times here in Hancock County and the growth of the county from a booming logging community to an important space age site.

We feel this will be especially interesting to our seniors as they think back and share their 'memories' with their grandchildren. It will also be interest-

EARLY BIRD

With the weather changing from winter to summer, now is the time to get residential cooling systems ready. The Mississippi Department of Energy and Transportation offers free information to help you.

For your free copy of 'Keep Home Heating And Cooling Equipment In Top Shape' and 'How To Cut The Cost of Cooling Your Home' call The Energy Answerline at 1-800-222-8311.

ing to our 'new' seniors as they, with their grandchildren come to understand their new roots. The Center and Bank will furnish refreshments and prizes, and RSVP will assist with hosting and serving. (What would we do without our volunteers?)

We hope many of you will mark your calendar and join us in the gym at Valena C. Jones Bldg. in Bay St. Louis. For more information call the Center at 467-9292 or RSVP at 467-9204.

PICNICS We have had a good time at our first picnics at Buccaneer Park. The weather has been beautiful, the food good, and the games fun. The VFW is helping with the games and they always add a lot of enthusiasm in playing games. Ofcourse, RSVP helps also with their van and personnel. Thanks to all of you!

Our last picnic will be May 27. If you don't have a reservation, bring your own lunch and join us at 9:30 a.m. at the first pavilion. You can join in the games and fellowship.

BLUES ON ETV

"When you have the right thing blues, the blues can make your flesh crawl and make your hair stand up on your head," says veteran bluesman Willie Dixon.

He should know. Dixon has been composing, performing and recording blues for over 50 years. In "Ain't Nothin' But the Blues," a one-hour documentary at 10 p.m. Friday, May 20, on Mississippi ETV, Dixon joins the best of contemporary blues musicians—B.B. King, Robert Cray, Albert Collins, Bo Diddley and the Fabulous Thunderbirds—to tell the story of this enduring music and its impact on popular culture.

While the blues have been around for a long time, with many people having images of the Delta and a bunch of old men sitting on their front porches with guitars, "Ain't Nothin' But the Blues" demonstrates that

Answer to Puzzle:

Safe drivers getting new type of tickets in Pass Christian

BY DENA BISNETTE

Young drivers in Pass Christian who are pulled over by police officers these days may be getting a new type of ticket.

Police Chief John Dubuison said juvenile drivers are now receiving citations for good driving in a program sponsored by Pass Christian Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5931 and its auxiliary.

Officer Archie Sellier, who serves as Neighborhood Watch and crime prevention officer, adapted the program for Pass Christian from an account of another city's program he heard at a crime prevention seminar in Fort Worth, Texas.

He based the safe driver citation program on the idea that "winning over juveniles goes a long way in preventing crime."

"This is a good way to show them that the police aren't only looking for the bad things they do, which is too often the case. This shows them that we see the good things too."

Sellier explained that youths do not have the same attitude toward police officers they used to have in Pass Christian, because more young people have been talking to uniformed policemen.

He added that most of them have asked about the program because they have heard about it from other teenagers.

"It gets us on a one-to-one basis with them and promotes more understanding on both parts," Sellier said.

The printed safe driver citations have been provided by the VFW. All of the officers have them, although none are being distributed right now on the a.m. to 3 p.m. shift because the drivers targeted by the program are still in school. In addition, very few are being given out on the midnight shift.

However, about 20 have been given out on the 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. shift since the program started about a month ago, Sellier added.

He said nearly every citation is met with the same reaction.

"They're mostly startled. We pull them over and they hop out of the car and start asking, 'what did I do?, what was I doing?'"

The officer notes the driver's name, address, telephone number and what good driving practice the youth is being commended for, such as stopping properly for a stop sign.

As an extra incentive, the VFW is given a copy of each citation for use in a drawing every two months. The winner of the drawing is presented with a $50 savings bond.

The first was recently presented to Christopher D. Mathis by Dubuison, Sellier, Post 5931 Commander Clem Harshbarger and Auxiliary President Shelia Ladner.

One of the most important factors of the program, Sellier said, is that everything is kept on a positive level between the officer and the young driver he stops.

"We don't even ask for their driver's licenses, and we don't ticket them for anything else we notice, like an expired tag, although we may tell them about it," he said.

The program was started at the school because the VFW has agreed to sponsor it for at least the next year. More information about the program can be obtained from the VFW Post 5931 or the Police Department.

Teenagers cautioned about drinking and driving

Graduation time with its related parties is one of the most dangerous times of the year for Mississippi teenagers, according to the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs.

Some graduation parties include alcohol and other drugs, and when these are combined with driving motor vehicles, you have a lethal combination," said Roy Thigpen, director of Federal-State Programs' Department of Criminal Justice Planning.

"Each year, approximately 46 Mississippi teenagers are killed in alcohol and other drug-related crashes," he said.

"Sometimes teenagers who previously did not drink alcoholic beverages or use other dangerous drugs yield to peer pressure at these parties," Thigpen noted. "This is a particularly bad time for teenagers to feel left out, and individuals may be willing to pay virtually any price to gain peer approval."

"Teenagers who drive after they've been drinking could be killed, be seriously injured or cause others to be killed or seriously injured," he added.

"A parent peering over the lifeless body of a son or daughter and knowing that the death could have been prevented is one of the most traumatic of all experiences," Thigpen noted. "Yes, alcohol or drug-related teenage deaths could be prevented, but parents must face the fact that the time for prevention is now."

Teenagers, he said, should think about the legal consequences of drinking and driving and, more importantly the possibility of losing their lives, being crippled for life or living with the knowledge that they contributed to the death or serious injury of a friend."

Thigpen suggested that teenagers never ride in a vehicle driven by a person who's been drinking or using other drugs and "certainly never drink or use other drugs before driving."

He noted that combining drinking and driving is Mississippi's most serious highway safety problem, and, "although driving after drinking is a problem pervading all age groups of licensed drivers, it is particularly severe for teenagers. The combination of learning how to drive, youthful risk-taking behavior and drinking is accounting for the number one killer of our nation's teenagers."

"The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety has reported," Thigpen said, "that teenage drivers are involved in one of every five fatal crashes and that almost 60 percent of fatally injured teenage drivers were found to have alcohol in their blood systems."

"We of the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs want spring to be a happy time for teenagers and their parents, he noted. "Now is the time to take that proverbial 'ounce of prevention' because even a 'pound of cure' obviously won't restore the life of a teenager who was killed after combining drinking or other drug use with driving.

HANCOCK NORTH CENTRAL Student Council completed its 1987-88 school year by presenting the Rebecca Kennedy Scholarship Fund a check for the amount of $300. This scholarship is awarded yearly to a senior at Hancock North Central. The scholarship was created to honor Mrs. Kennedy who was a counselor at Hancock North Central for 25 years. Most of this money was raised from a carnival held at the school on April 30. Mike Murphy, teacher at Hancock North Central who represents the Scholarship committee accepts the contribution from Leslie Ladner, Student Council president, and Rhett Ladner, carnival chairman.

PRC board seeks loans

POPLARVILLE—Pearl River College's Board of Trustees and the State Board for Community and Junior Colleges have approved applications to the U.S. Department of Education's College Facilities Loan Program for low interest loans.

Pearl River is requesting a loan reservation of $384,614 to renovate the 21-year-old Science Building and a loan reservation of $1,492,558 to renovate an existing men's dormitory and to construct additional male and female resident halls. The loans are for 5.5 percent and can be repaid over a 30-year period. News of the approval or rejection of the application will be made in September.

The Science Building has had no renovations or repairs, other than minor maintenance, since its construction. The building houses instruction in chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics.

"This renovation is vital to the safe, effective instruction in these areas," said Jennifer Downey, director of research administration, in her presentation to the PRC Board during the recent April meeting.

The renovation of Lamar Hall and the construction of two dormitories is an attempt to eliminate the critical overcrowding and possible housing code violations at Pearl River College.

President Ted J. Alexander told the PRC Board that the funds to pay the indebtedness will come from available county tax support and from a portion of student fees.

In other action, the PRC Board:

Approved the moving of a maintenance and warehouse building to the central warehouse.

Accepted the low bid of Courts Inc. to resurface the tennis courts.

Approved a policy on communicable diseases after the second viewing.

Approved policy on admissions to athletic events after second viewing.

Approved progress payments to Maples Construction Company, United Roofing and Construction, Warren Paving and architect Fred Wagner for work completed on campus projects.

Approved March Claim Docket of $551,667.38.

Was notified that bids for the furniture and rugs for the public rooms in the president's house had been published.

Here's hoping you achieve your future dreams, Grads.
